

Douglas Newman Good/DNG Nationwide Property Show with a distinct Irish flavour, in Kensington, London on Saturday February 4th 2006

- Thousands of Irish properties on view – one location

DNG Nationwide and Douglas Newman Good, Ireland's fastest growing estate agency branch network, are hosting a one day exhibition of Irish properties on Saturday, February 4th at the Copthorne Tara Hotel, Kensington. With up to 70 estate agents representing DNG branches from all over Ireland who will be displaying properties ranging from second hand residential properties in the main urban areas to a vast range of new home developments, rural cottages, development sites, public houses, retail units, townhouses, bijou and pied a terre properties.

DNG Economist Paul Murgatroyd will also be hosting a series of property information seminars on the day on "The property buying process" and "The Irish property market."

The current Irish property market offers real value for potential UK buyers. Keith Lowe, Managing Partner, Douglas Newman Good said, "The current market conditions favour buyers and we believe that our property show will reflect the value out there. The strength of Sterling adds greatly to this for potential buyers living in the UK." There is a real appetite for Irish properties in the UK prompting us to bring this property showcase to London in response to this demand."

For many people living in London looking to invest in property or to move to Ireland, the property showcase offers a wide selection of properties for all budgets and locations. The exhibition is expected to arouse much interest and a large turnout is expected on the day. Michael Glynn, DNG Nationwide Managing Partner said, "We are greatly looking forward to our first major property event outside of Ireland. We are also the first Irish property network in 2006 out of the starting blocks with such an event which is important from the Irish property vendor's point of view as we hope to gain maximum selling exposure for their properties. Irish Property sellers should be talking to their local DNG Nationwide agent today and get their property on board. We believe the London public will come out in force to meet us and to view the properties on display."

The event takes place in the Copthorne Tara Hotel, Scarsdale Place, Kensington, London, W8 on Saturday February 4th from 11:00 am to 4:30 pm. For more information you can access the Douglas Newman Good website at www.dng.ie or telephone:
